MOVING? HANDLE (CHILDREN) WITH CARE!

Look who's moving to a New Home provides families with a solution for "moving meltdown"

(May 8, 2007) According to the U.S. Census Bureau, nearly half of the 40 million Americans who move do so between June and September, the period between the end of one school year and the beginning of the next. As every family knows, moving is more than just packing efficiently and handling the many logistics that relocation entails. Sometimes the bigger part of the job is handling the uncertainties, anxieties, and questions that children often have about moving to a new home." That's where Look who's moving to a New Home smoothes the transition.

This 8" x 8" 24-page keepsake album, designed for children ages 4-8, addresses each child's excitement, anticipation, anxiety and limited understanding of what relocating really means through a easy-to-personalize, visual fill-in-the-blanks format. Look who's moving to a New Home provides children with the confidence to embrace a family's move, while also capturing cherished memories and friendships.

"Moving to a new home can be a very difficult and confusing experience for a young child," says Dr. Susan Bartell, New York Child Psychologist and Author of Mommy or Daddy: Whose Side Am I On?

“Look who’s moving to a New Home provides the perfect combination of information, empathy and interactive fun to help youngsters cope with the loss of the old and transition to the new.”

Look who’s moving to a New Home joins iParenting Media Award winners Look who’s going to be a Big Sister and Look who’s going to be a Big Brother (2004) in a series. Whitcombe has appeared on CBS-NY Family First and PBS’ Real Moms, Real Stories, Real Savvy to provide solutions and expertise on how to eliminate meltdowns by redirecting fear and preparing children for tough transitions.
